What's in that tap water you've been drinking? Did you know that in the United States, arsenic in tap water is a fairly widespread and common occurrence? Tap water has also been reported to contain aluminum, fluoride, and prescription and over-the-counter drugs and toxic chemicals.

Drinking bottled water is the smart solution to avoiding the contaminants found in unfiltered tap water, right? Wrong! Did you know that a large percentage of bottled water is actually the same tap water you are paying extra money to avoid drinking?
